Our Mission

Catholic Answers is a media ministry that serves Christ by explaining and defending the Catholic faith. We help Catholics grow in their faith, we bring former Catholics home, and we lead non-Catholics into the fullness of the truth.

Catholic Answers Press delivers high-quality, solidly Catholic books, pamphlets, DVDs, and audio content to customers, offering exceptional service and a high level of confidence in products that explain and defend the teachings of the Catholic Church. Your purchase helps support our efforts to reach more souls for Christ and share the fullness of the truth found in the Catholic faith.

Finding the Real Jesus Among the Impostors

Jesus asked his disciples, “Who do you say that I am?”

Turns out that today, as back then, this question has a lot of different answers. So many groups want to appropriate Jesus, tweaking his identity until he looks and sounds like one of them.

But then you no longer have the Lord, says Trent Horn (Why We’re Catholic). You have an impostor.

In Counterfeit Christs, Trent looks at eighteen phony versions of Jesus that we encounter today. Some are the creation of non-Christians: skeptics who dismiss Jesus as a fictional composite of ancient myths, secular humanists who think he was just a Nice Man, or adherents of other religions who claim him as a prophet or guru in their own tradition.

Others stem from Christian or quasi-Christian theology gone so far wrong that its founder is no longer recognizable. Think of the greed-affirming Jesus of “prosperity gospel” preachers or the sects that strip Christ of his divinity.

And of course there are enthusiasts for ideological causes who make him a model Marxist (or Democrat or Republican) or enlist him as a convenient spokesman for “tolerance” of the thing they want to do or promote.

In all these examples and others, the authentic Jesus of Scripture and Tradition is obscured by a pale imitator, and so is the saving power of his wisdom and grace. Read Counterfeit Christs, then, and be able to recognize the fakes when you see them, explain why they’re phony, and make a case for the full truth and beauty of who Jesus is: the Christ, son of the living God (Matt. 16:16).
A Rock and Roll Journalist Opens Her Ears to God

Love and beauty. From when she was a little girl, Dawn Eden Goldstein knew she wanted those things—that in them, somehow, she would find God.

But her life’s search led her away from the temples of her childhood Judaism to the music clubs of Greenwich Village, where she became an acolyte of a new religion: rock and roll. Over the years she earned renown as a rock critic and historian, moving among some of popular music’s biggest names, all the while straining to capture that transcendent love and beauty in their every note and lyric.

Yet her longing only deepened; the hole in her heart only grew. God’s voice was calling her, but first she needed ears to hear.

In Sunday Will Never Be the Same, Goldstein (The Thrill of the Chaste) recounts her spiritual journey in beautifully wrought detail, mixing powerful accounts of trauma, healing, and epiphany with funny and poignant anecdotes from inside the music scene. It is the rare “conversion story” that delights as it inspires, amuses as it edifies—and ultimately lays before the reader a lived testimony to the transforming grace of Christ.

Sunday Will Never Be The Same
by Dawn Eden Goldstein

CB449  Softcover, 256 pgs  $16.95

“This is the story of a young woman’s journey through the dark minefield of modernity, of a lost soul who searched in vain for joy before finding it in the place where it had awaited her all along. It is a conversion story, written with equal measures of frankness and delicacy. It is also a vivid snapshot of the world of American pop music at century’s end. Whatever your faith—or lack of it—you will put down Sunday Will Never Be the Same filled with gratitude for having been given the opportunity to accompany Dawn Eden Goldstein on her pilgrimage from confusion to certainty.”

— Terry Teachout, drama critic, The Wall Street Journal
WHY ARE YOU CATHOLIC?

This is the number-one question Catholics get asked—and, sometimes, we ask ourselves. Why We’re Catholic assembles the clearest, friendliest, most helpful answers to give people and more.

Our Reasons for Faith, Hope, and Love

“Catholic Answers has carried out a wonderful, apologetic ministry explaining, defending, and advancing the mission of the Church for many years. Trent Horn’s Why We’re Catholic is the latest and very useful tool in that work: clear, practical, simply organized, very readable, and rich in content. It’s a pleasure to recommend it.”

— Charles J. Chaput, O.F.M. Cap., Archbishop of Philadelphia

“Finally! A concise, courteous, and convincing book to hand to friends and strangers about the reasonableness of Catholicism.”

— Matt Fradd, Catholic apologist and chastity speaker

“With great clarity and charity, Trent Horn walks the reader through the most common objections and questions people have about Catholicism. Whether you’re a Catholic looking to deepen your faith or you’re curious about the claims made by the Church, you need to read Why We’re Catholic.”

— Jason Evert, Author of Saint John Paul the Great: His Five Loves

EVERY PARENT SHOULD HAVE THIS BOOK to help their kids face today’s tough moral issues

Give your kids a firm foundation

A generation ago, Christian parents didn’t have to worry about how to explain transgenderism to their nine-year-old, or help their teenager deal with mockery at school for believing in traditional marriage.

But today, as our culture’s moral center continues to fly apart and with every form of deviance publicly aired and celebrated, we have no choice but to equip our kids to understand and to own the truth about such issues.

It’s not easy, though—these are sensitive questions, and with the wrong approach we can harm our kids’ innocence even as we try to preserve it. In Made This Way: How to Prepare Kids to Face Today’s Tough Moral Issues, Leila Miller and Trent Horn give parents (guardians and teachers, too!) crucial tools and techniques to form children with the understanding they need—appropriate to their age and maturity level—to meet the world’s challenges.

Their secret lies in an approach that begins not with the Bible or Church teaching but with the natural law. In kid-friendly ways, Miller (Primal Loss) and Horn (Persuasive Pro-Life) help you communicate how the right way to live is rooted in the way we’re made. God’s design for human nature is a blueprint or owner’s manual for moral living that any child can grasp through reason and apply to modern controversies over sex, marriage, life... and the quest for human fulfillment.

Silence can no longer be an option. If we’re not teaching our children how to understand tough moral issues, then the world will. Read Made This Way and learn how to give your kids a firm foundation on which to build a life of moral clarity and happiness.

Made this Way
How to Prepare Kids to Face Today’s Tough Moral Issues

by Leila Miller and Trent Horn

“Made This Way: How to Prepare Kids To Face Today’s Tough Moral Issues” is a kind of ‘life-raft book’ for Catholic parents today who feel like they are drowning in the sea of moral relativism in which we live.”

How to Cut Through Doctrinal Confusion & Understand What the Church Really Says

What does the Church teach about that? Sometimes this feels like a question with a hundred different answers. Getting to the heart of any particular question of doctrine or morals can be a challenge. This can lead not only to personal confusion but—increasingly in our day—conflict and disagreement among Catholics.

In Teaching with Authority, Jimmy Akin shows you how to get it all straight. Not another catechism or “Catholicism for beginners” book, Teaching with Authority isn’t about understanding specific teachings of the Faith (even the complicated and misunderstood ones) but rather about understanding Catholic teaching itself.

A unique, valuable, and long-overdue resource for all Catholics as well as those inquiring about the Faith, Teaching with Authority will help deepen your understanding of what the Church teaches by showing you (maybe for the first time) how and why and where it does.

The Very First Fathers (AUDIO)

In The Very First Fathers, Jimmy Akin (author of the best-selling book The Fathers Know Best) takes you on a tour of the earliest Christian writings outside the New Testament. From the most famous figures and most notable works to those lesser-known but no less important, this pivotal time in the development of the early Church is revealed in fascinating detail.

The Fathers Know Best

With more than 900 quotations from the Church Fathers on nearly fifty topics, this groundbreaking work by Jimmy Akin presents the teachings of the early Christians in a way no other work has.

“There are other works, but Akin’s finely selected and categorized collection provides a far more accessible introduction to the early Christians.”
— Marcus Grodi, President of The Coming Home Network and host of EWTN’s The Journey Home

Mark McNeil spent years in the Oneness Pentecostal movement: praying in its lively services, zealously spreading its unconventional teachings, and rejecting mainstream Christianity as misguided.

In All in the Name, Mark tells his story first of trading his conventional Baptist upbringing for the emotional buzz and fiery preaching of Oneness Pentecostal worship, and for the thrill of thinking that he was among an elite group of believers who followed the true faith where so many others had strayed.

A faith-strengthener for Catholics and an intriguing challenge to those who reject the Trinity, All in the Name is at once an inspiring human story of conversion and a powerful apologetic for orthodox belief in God, Jesus, and salvation.

Matt Nelson (ReasonableCatholic.com) says this religious indifference is the great spiritual sickness of our age—a product of the relativism that dominates modern culture.

In Just Whatever, Matt takes down the building blocks of religious indifference one by one. He looks at the three different kinds you tend to encounter in your friends and family members—and maybe in yourself!—to see where they come from and why they’re seductive. In their place he offers a compelling vision of a world in which it matters what you believe, who you worship, and where authentic truth and authority reside. And he helps you present that vision to others with clarity and love.

What the Saints Never Said

“God helps those who help themselves.” “Preach the gospel always; when necessary, use words.” Sayings like these are such a part of modern pious tradition that we assume they come from the Bible, the mouths of saints, or the pens of famous Christian writers. In books, in homilies, and of course on the internet—they have acquired a halo of truth.

In What the Saints Never Said, Trent Horn (Why We’re Catholic) takes more than forty of these well-known but dubious sayings and attempts to track them to their true source.

By setting the record straight, Trent does more than show you the true origins of these seemingly harmless sayings: he roots out the poison pills contained in them—theological errors and implications that can lead us away from the fullness of Christian truth. In their place he offers choice selections from the richness of authentic quotes from Scripture, saints, and scholars that will draw you closer to that truth.

Overcoming Obstacles to God, the Gospel, and the Church

Sharing the gospel with family and friends (or a stranger via the computer screen) can be challenging enough. When they won’t even hear you out because of all the mental roadblocks they’ve built up, it’s even harder.

In Prepare the Way, Karlo Broussard helps you tackle that essential first step to apologetics and evangelization: getting people to listen with an open mind.

Even our best witness can bounce right off folks like these if we don’t prepare the way first, breaking down the barriers and leaving minds and souls free to encounter the truth. So Karlo gives you not just evidence and arguments but step-by-step strategies, based on asking the right questions, that you can use—along with prayer and gentle charity—to help them overcome their obstacles and make a straight path for the Lord.

Is the Church Wrong on Contraception?

In a world that practically worships the pursuit of sexual pleasure, the Catholic Church’s teaching on contraception can seem unintelligible. Critics say it is outdated, harmful, and theologically unfounded, and even faithful Catholics can have difficulty explaining this moral teaching.

Using natural law, Scripture, papal and magisterial teaching, and new insights provided by social science and medicine, Trent puts forward a compelling case with charity and persuasive graciousness.

As we pass the fiftieth anniversary of Humanae Vitae and critics continue to attack its reaffirmation of the Church’s teaching on contraception, this presentation will give you the tools to explain why the Church is unabashedly always on “the side of life.”
